Advanced Learners were given special tasks from the concerned departments to create digital and non-digital teaching aids for the help of slow learners and to use for peer teaching. Many students came out with video content that could be made useful by the slow learners for their curriculum enhancement. Screenshots of some of the videos are given here and additional proofs of YouTube links are given towards the bottom of the file.

INTRODUCTION (About Ketan Parek)

- A Mumbai based stock broker chartered accountant by profession.
- Ketan Parek took advantage of low liquidity in certain stocks which later came to be known as K-10' stocks.
- Held significant stakes in K-10 companies.
- The buoyant stock markets from January to July 1999 helped the K-10 stocks increase in value substantially.
- As a result other brokers and fund managers started investing heavily in these stocks.

Background of Kingfisher Scam

After receiving loans in dense masses, he applied for a scheme called 'debt restructuring,' which is a process where the debts of a financially distressed company, who are incapable of repaying, are renegotiated and reduced to restore bank liquidity.

In this case, the debt was converted into equity, which means to wave off the debt, and instead, the company would give its shares to the bank up to the value of debt. The shares of KFA was valued at Rs. 64.40, whereas it was trading at Rs. 89.90 in the market.

The justification given by Vijay Malya was that since they have a bad phase in their business, the market trading value is decreased to Rs. 40, otherwise the real valuation was of Rs. 65.

However, it was later found that their all-time high value of the share was Rs. 48. Indirectly, he was trying to wave off his debts.
